Subdivision Law Battle Falls Flat

Opposition Fails To Materialize; First Reading Done

Anticipated opposition failed to materialize last night as a new subdivision beautification ordinance passed its first City Council reading with a 5-2 vote.

Council members authorized only one appreciable change in the ordinance, which becomes law 30 days after its second reading at the next council meeting.

AT THE SAME time, the council was informed that City Planning Director Hy Raney has drafted a new zoning ordinance amendment, primarily designed to upgrade new hotel and apartment projects, in line with the subdivision beautification proposal.

Created to end lackluster housing developments, the new subdivision ordinance calls for installation of underground utilities, and sidewalks in new tracts.

A PROVISION requiring subdivision street trees was dropped from the ordinance on grounds that it might work a hardship on developers who subdivided land but were not planning immediate tract construction.

Mayor Frank Bogert explained that it would be "unfair" to require these developers to plant trees on undeveloped land and "too complicated" to ask them to post bonds to insure such planting when future construction gets underway.

IT WAS EXPECTED that some Realtors and small developers would oppose the ordinance on previously stated grounds that it places an "undue burden" on small real estate developers and constitutes "favoritism" for large builders.

But Realtor Muriel Fulton expressed the Palm Springs Real Estate Board's view that "we are not against the ordinance, but would like more time to study the ordinance map and offer suggestions."

Mayor Bogert appeared before the board this morning to explain that the ordinance, as approved by the council last night, calls for full underground utilities in Sections 24, 14, 22, 26 and 30 and part of Section 13.

THE REST, HE said, will require only underground line drops from power poles to individual homes.

Really Board members evidenced no opposition, but there was a sudden, collective intake of breath when the 50 or more members present were told the underground utilities would add $1,000 to $1,500 to the development cost of individual lots, depending upon whether or not television cable installations were included.

Meanwhile, the City Planning Commission is viewing a recommendation to approve zoning ordinance amendment which will require hotel and apartment builders as well as subdividers to install sidewalks, paving, and curbs; to dedicate half-streets; to require subdividers to dedicate park sites or make payments in lieu of them.

Carole Tregoff, Finch Trial Set

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Red-haired Carole Tregoff, 22, and her boy friend, Dr. R. Bernard Finch, 41, must face trial Dec. 1 on charges of murdering the society doctor's estranged wife.

Miss Tregoff pleaded innocent to the charge Wednesday after her attorneys failed for the second time this week to have a Grand Jury indictment against her dismissed. Finch, also named in the indictment, entered an innocent plea last week.

Cuban Mobs Attack U.S. Newsmen

Demonstrations Follow False Reports on Major

HAVANA (UPI) — Mobs of anti-American Cubans beat and stoned U.S. photographer Andrew St. George of Time-Life and threatened United Press International photographer Joseph Folinus Wednesday.

The attacks came during demonstrations touched off by a false report that missing army commander Maj. Camilo Cienfuegos had been found.

THE TWO AMERICANS were attacked by mobs shouting "American newspapermen not welcome here," "go home, Yankee," and "to the wall"—a reference to the firing squad.

St. George said he was attacked while attempting to photograph a mob assault on a loudspeaker truck broadcasting President Osvaldo Dorticos' announcement that the report on Cienfuegos was not officially confirmed.

HE SAID HE WAS stoned and then pulled down from atop an automobile where he was taking pictures and punched in the body. Police came to his rescue and hustled him through the crowd, some of whom still tried to strike him.

An angry mob also surrounded Folinus, shouting anti-American slogans. Folinus replied to the threats in German and the demonstrators moved off.

IN OTHER INCIDENTS in the stormy Latin area:

—Three men dressed in military uniforms and carrying rifles fired on American-born Maj. William Morgan's Havana home Wednesday night in an apparent assassination attempt, it was disclosed today. One of the attackers was captured.

ITALIAN RUSTLERS USE DINKY AUTO TO CART OFF COW

BARI, Italy (UPI) — Who said there's no space inside those little Italian cars?

Two rustlers Wednesday managed to stuff a stolen cow into a Fiat 600, with only its horns poking out the window.

They abandoned the car and cow and fled when a police car chased them. It took the police a quarter of an hour to get the cow out of the car.

Drive for Toys Launched by Friendly Aid

Palm Springs Welfare and Friendly Aid Association has already launched its annual drive for toys to be distributed this Christmas to needy children of the community.

The project has been carried on for many years, with other organizations and individuals invited to help.

TOYS ARE NEEDED for children of all ages — dolls, stuffed animals, cars, trucks, boats, balls, games and books. Playthings may be new or used, but clean and in good condition.

Groups, clubs and individuals are urged to set aside a day a week from now until Christmas to dress dolls, to make toys for the Friendly Aid project, or to stage fund-raising events in order that new toys may be purchased from local shops at cost.

TOYS IN NEED of some repair or adjustment are also welcomed, and are made ready for distribution by Santa's local helper, Bob Byerly, who made the repair of toys for Welfare and Friendly Aid his personal project for many years.

Additional information is available from Mrs. Seamus Nunan at FA 4-1726, or the Palm Springs Welfare and Friendly Aid office at the Health Center, FA 5-2195. They may also be contacted for pick up of toys and cash donations.

GOLDEN ADVISES COMMUNITY AID

By GEORGE LAINE

Harry Golden, the reporter who parlayed a homespun humor with morality and delivered two best-selling books within an 18-month span, advised Palm Springs citizens to get off the dime and "take part" in all community activities.

Speaking before a packed Community Forum in the Jewish Community Center, the Carolina publisher chided Americans harnessed to TV chairs and counseled his listeners to seek "the complete participation of all your society in the affairs of the community."

"IT'S YOUR HERITAGE — and your security — in this nation," he said.

Earlier, the rotund, bespectacled philosopher had chided the McCarran-Walter immigration law, ripped New York jurist Samuel F. Leibowitz, ridiculed the lack of "American scientists" involved in the U.S. space program and denounced "second class citizenship — by law" for the nation's 12-million Negroes.

He also noted the sudden (and virtually complete) disappearance from the American scene of the lecture series.

"I REMEMBER when you would walk down a street and see — on every post — a sign that said 'Lecture Tonight.' There were people like Will Durant, Debs, Margaret Sanger — hundreds of them."

"Now," he lamented, "what do you have?"

"Television," he provided his own answer.

GOLDEN, who said that he makes "more speeches than Eleanor Roosevelt," asked his audience to help in the fight for the "rights of all minorities."

He said that he does not believe that Negroes want race mixing, only the chance to be equal. "In the South, they're second class citizens — by law. All they want is to take it off the books."

"I tell my Southern audiences that they've tied the Negro — so completely that they can't tell whether a colored person is equal or not. Untie them, let them run, I say to my audiences. Then you'll find out if Negroes are equal."

GOLDEN WAS introduced by Long Beach Independent and Press-Telegram publisher H. H. Ridder, who likened the author to Will Rogers.

Ridder was introduced to the capacity audience by Stan Rosin, chairman of the 1959 Community Forum.

Airplane Hunt Moves to Hemet

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The air-ground search for a single-engine airplane missing since Sunday centered near Hemet today.

A farmer told the Civil Air Patrol he heard an explosion Sunday shortly after a low-flying aircraft passed over his land.

The Cessna 182 plane, piloted by Escondido car dealer Homer Heller, 50, has not been heard from since it left Las Vegas, Nev., Sunday en route to San Diego.

SECOND JEWELRY THEFT IN WEEK REPORTED HERE

A $5,000 platinum and diamond ring plus $350 in cash was reported stolen Wednesday from Mr. and Mrs. Michaels Brooks Goldenburg of Marion, Pa.

It was the second big jewel theft in the Palm Springs area this week.

Detectives said entry to the Goldenburgs' bungalow was made "by manipulating the lock and then breaking open a suitcase."

They said it was similar to the burglary at the Thunderbird Country Club where $9,600 worth of jewelry was stolen Sunday.

Sculptor Dreams Of 'Sun Goddess'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last in a series of articles on the internationally famous sculptor, Lawrence Tenney Stevens, who recently completed the bas-reliefs at the new Ramon Road Branch of Security-First National Bank here.)

By DON KLOTZBUCHER
It's been a dream for 18 years, and Lawrence Tenney Stevens hopes to some day make it a reality.

In 1941 he created a 10-foot figure of a "Sun Goddess." Even then he had the vision of seeing it as an entrance — way to Palm Springs — one which would attract tourists, as well as delight Villagers and visitors.

Of course, it would have to be larger. And that requires financing.

THE WAR interrupted once. And then he left California to go to Tulsa, then to Tempe, Ariz., where he now has his internationally known studio. That's where he executed the 4,000 pound bas-reliefs for the Security-First National Bank's Ramon Road Branch here, which depicts the "History of Palm Springs."

He is no stranger to Palm Springs, having created his original "Sun Goddess" in 1941 in the gardens of the home of Miss Cor-

'Dead' Lines, Difficulties Told to PUC

CVTC President Agrees to Post Refund Information

By CHUCK WHEELER

INDIO — The three-day hearings on Coachella Valley Telephone Company's application for a rate increase saw in its second day J. C. Newman, president of the company, testifying before the Public Utilities Commission with Commissioner Peter E. Mitchell asking questions as well as the PUC attorney.

In Mitchell's querying of Newman, he said he had no objection to noting on subscribers' bills that they are entitled to a refund when service is interrupted for 24 consecutive hours.

WITNESSES YESTERDAY afternoon testified that service had been interrupted many times and that many times the phone was "dead" when they picked up the receiver to make a call.

Ed Gierlich of Palm Desert, retired contractor, told the examiners today that he has a residence party-line and that he has encountered many difficulties, naming mainly that the line was usually "dead."

Frank Lamb and William Wirth of Palm Desert also testified that the lines were many times inoperative.

MITCHELL ASKED Newman if he compiled reports of calls. "Not every day," Newman replied. "Just on studies." He said, however, that the number of long distance dialed calls are logged.

In regard to Mitchell's question of how many hotels and motels the company served, Newman replied that there were many. Mitchell asked if the company was lax in assistance because it handled so many commercial establishments.

NEWMAN REPLIED "A lot of the calls are pay-station." Newman said that approximately 38 to 42 per cent in a year's period are distance-dialed calls.

When Mitchell interposed with queries, he told Newman that the Commission was concerned about the number of complaints received.

Newman replied "I want you to know that I'm also concerned." The hearings will continue at 9 a.m. Friday.

Swimming Class Set for Parents

Instruction for parents and pool managers on "waterproofing" young children will be offered by Palm Springs Branch, Riverside County Chapter, American Red Cross, and the City Recreation Department, from 1 to 3 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 21, at the Palm Springs High School pool.

The two hour demonstration period will introduce adults to the techniques of teaching children how to swim and how to be safe in and around the water, according to Earl Hough, Red Cross Branch chairman.

"With the knowledge gained at this swim meet and the American Red Cross booklet, 'Teaching Johnny to Swim,' parents will be well equipped to teach their children," Hough said. "This course is offered to pool managers in the city, too, because they are often asked to instruct very young guests of the clubs and hotels."

"Teaching Johnny to Swim" is a new approach of the Red Cross to meet the need of teaching the increasing number of youngsters who are anxious to join in water sports. The course is designed to teach adults how to train children under nine years of age to enjoy the use of water facilities safely.

There's All Kinds of Women Here --But This Lady Loves Tramps

By JOAN WILCOXON

There are many smart women in desert land; the ones who write books and make speeches, and the clever ones who schedule our social season and know just what length to wear their dresses. Then there are the others.

"Me? I'm just a nothing—just a housewife—just a mother."

IT'S A BLESSING they're in the majority, those know-nothings. They manage to keep the happiness pot boiling without ever making headlines or getting a citation. Like Lenore Pierce, tucked away on Sunrise Way, the mother of a handsome teen-ager, Steven, who would be the first to admit she's very average.

"I wish I could do clever things like so many women I know," she complains, "but there's so much to do at home for the children."

"NINO'S JUST OFF formula, but the two babies are every three hours around the clock, then there's Gidget who hates peanuts but craves sunflower seeds!"

"Of course Chico and Nonie are pretty well set now and no real bother but with all I feed them they still have murder in their hearts and keep adding to the infirmity."

Lenore's children are tramps—all of them. Stray cats, cast-off dogs, half dead birds, auto-casualty chipmunks and squirrels—even a parrot bought at auction! large, rambling, undisciplined

THE INFIRMARY is all over her large, rambling, undisciplined home. The kitchen sink holds dishes of all sizes and shapes for the different menus, shoe boxes on the dressers are packed with cotton and hot water bottles for the baby fiedlings—she has saved the lives of over three hundred birds in the past 20 years!

Nino and Gidget, the chipmunks, dash about in separate cages in the living room until they can learn togetherness, Trinket, the parrot screams "Be quiet!" to the smaller menagerie from the organ top, the two cats, inky-black Chico and Siamese Nonie, spread indifferently wherever the inclination takes them, and Foxy the shepherd, foster mother and baby sitter to them all, patiently tries to keep them in order.

Foxy is just one out of hundreds Lenore has befriended through the years. Driving through the Arizona desert one scorching day she sighted an abandoned shepherd and her puppy cowering beneath a mesquite bush. She jumped out and caught the little one but the frightened mother raced for a cistern beneath the highway.

Lenore followed and with kind words and bits of food lured the dog out of hiding enough to accept nourishment and water. But she would not leave the cistern. Lenore knew the dog would die from starvation and thirst if she didn't get her out. So she went in, head first, inch by inch crawling on her stomach in the mud and slime. She spoke gently and kept petting

Idyllwild Road Request Studied

A recommendation by Road Commissioner A. C. Keith that the Board of Supervisors approve a request by Idyllwild residents for improvement of Oakwood Street from Pine Crest Avenue to Jamison Drive as a cooperative project, was referred this week to the planning commission.

Keith estimated cost of the proposed project at $2,000 and recommended that the property owners share be $1,075.

Kuchel Urges Support of Trip

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Foreign policy in the United States was based on a non-partisan foundation, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) claimed today in urging support of President Eisenhower's forthcoming trip to the Soviet Union.

He said in reference to criticism of national executives traveling to Russia, "I think Nixon's visit to Russia was in the public interest to advance the cause of peace."

"The same thing was true with Khrushchev's visit to this country. He was able to see the united cause among the U.S. people for peace," he said.

The Anaheim Republican addressed about 300 persons at a San Diego Association of Life Underwriters banquet at the U.S. Grant Hotel.

COUNTY TO STUDY JUDGES SALARIES

A study relative to the salaries of all judges of justice courts in the county was ordered by the Board of Supervisors this week and county counsel was instructed to prepare an ordinance to serve as an interim measure providing that any judge serving as relief judge in a justice court where the judge's salary is higher than it is in his own court will be paid the equivalent daily rate of the judge whom he relieves.

It was a request by Judge J. E. Franklin of the San Jacinto Judicial District Court that resulted in the action by the board. The judge asked that his salary of $300 per month be increased to $400.

HE POINTED OUT that he has relieved and handled cases in other courts, has improved the appearance of his own court room, and revenues in his court have increased from $1,200 to about $2,000 per month in fines and legal fees.

Administrative Officer Robert T. Andersen told the supervisors that both the county auditor and the personnel director feel a thorough study should be made of all the justice courts before a salary change is made for one judge and suggested the interim measure. He said a study would be completed for presentation to the board before its first meeting in January 1960.

PERSONNEL DIRECTOR Donald Spencer said Judge Franklin's salary appears to be inadequate for the services he has been providing the county. He said growth and development in the county have brought greater activity in practically all the courts. Present salary rates were set approximately two and one-half years ago.

In addition to Judge Franklin, Judge D. B. W. Alexander of Mecca and Judge Hilliard of Murietta draw monthly salaries of $300. Getting salaries of $400 per month are Judge Hester Kerby of Coachella and Judge Burr Van Housen of Hemet. Judge Wallace P. Rouse of Indio, Judge E. E. Theriault of Palm Springs, and Judge Elliott Yearsley of Palo Verde Judicial District draw salaries of $500 per month.

Salaries of judges of the Superior and Municipal Courts are determined by the State Legislature and cannot be changed during a term of office. Salaries of the Justice Courts, however, are set by the Board of Supervisors and may be changed at any time.

the hot mud-caked head until she could get a firm grip on the dog's ruff, then began pulling her to safety. The fact that she might have been seriously bitten in the face never occurred to her. After an hour of talking and gentle persuasion she got the dog out. Friends took the puppy and Lenore nursed the exhausted mother back to life.

Now Foxy is Lenore's right arm with the "children." New tramps like Nino and Gidget have the run of the living room every night under her supervision even though it means the loss of tail feathers and nose whiskers to the playful teasers.

Over the 4th of July holiday Lenore stood on the road at Twin Peaks, a tiny community between

James Di Pompei Services to Be Held Friday

Funeral services will be conducted in Uniontown, Pa., Friday for James Di Pompei, 28, popular former manager of the Huddle Springs Restaurant here.

Di Pompei died of a heart ailment at a Uniontown hospital yesterday morning, according to word received here today.

Probably the youngest executive in the Huddle restaurant chain, Di Pompei was a well known and popular figure here for almost two years. He was a Village home owner and left Palm Springs when the Huddle ended its local operation this spring.

Di Pompei leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hunt, and brother, Guy Hunt, of Uniontown. Funeral services will be conducted at the Gleason Funeral Home in Uniontown Friday.

Lake Gregory and Arrowhead, begging tourists to slow down. The squirrels are all pets. Throughout the year the residents feed and befriend them.

Then suddenly strange cars tear down the village street leaving the dead and dying scattered along their route. Lenore saved as many as she could find, setting broken legs, mending injured tails, but there were so many!

"Everybody is in such a hurry these days," she said, taking the splints from the wing of a blue cardinal and watching him gingerly try his wings and take off from the porch.

"We're so proud of the new things we're building or the new things we've just bought, but we destroy faster than we build. Like forest fires. A careless match and hundreds of acres are destroyed. They always make a big thing of the homes that are lost. How many thousands of animals go too!"

No, Lenore Pierce will probably never run for Congress or dictate fashions, but if a pre-mortem epitaph were to be written about her, it could read:

This lady loved the little things. The helpless and the lost. She never set a price on love. Or figured up the cost.

A frightened bird, a frightened child,

A starving dog—no matter. Her mother's touch, her mother's love.

Brought warmth and life and laughter.

Nixon Has Fun With Those Who Don't Know Him

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, back in his home territory for a five-day rest and visit, is having fun teasing strangers who don't immediately recognize him.

Nixon, accompanied by his aide, Air Force Maj. J. D. Hughes, and reporters took a 20 - block walk during the first morning of his visit. He had arrived Monday night from Washington.

When he stopped in a restaurant to breakfast on a hamburger, the waitress, Loretta Bovard, failed at first to recognize him. "Do you know who this is?" asked a reporter.

"No, I don't, but he looks like a nice gentleman," she answered. "I'm Bob Hope," said the vice president, grinning.

Nixon later met with Republican leaders and took part in a program honoring the anniversary of the "Rosary Hour" radio program.

County Cuts Fine Out of Canine Law

Supervisors Vote Okeh of 'Toothless' Dog Control Law

The Board of Supervisors voted three to two this week to amend the dog control ordinance adopted July 5 of this year to eliminate the provision for a fine of $200 for violation of the ordinance. Voting against the proposal were Supervisor George Berkey and Supervisor Paul Anderson.

The change was proposed by Supervisor Fred McCall who said he'd had several complaints about inclusion in the ordinance of the fine provision.

SUPERVISOR PAUL Anderson said it is a maximum fine and it would only be in extreme willful cases where the maximum fine would be applied.

County Counsel Ray T. Sullivan, Jr. observed that the same penalty was in the previous dog control ordinance and said misdemeanor penalties are usually spelled out. He said imposition of fines would be up to the judge of justice or municipal court and only for deliberate, willful and repeated refusals to comply with the ordinance.

"IT WOULD BE legislative foolishness to remove the penalty clause," declared Sullivan.

Supervisor William Jones said he wouldn't object to a maximum fine of $50, but Supervisor McCall objected to any fine provision.

Supervisor Curtis Chamberlain said he thought the additional fee of $1.50 for applicants late in applying for a license should be sufficient. There are, however, many other violations of the ordinance to which a fine would be applicable.

POLICE SCANDAL RACKS OHIO CITY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Ashamed and conspicuous. That's the feeling of many an honest Columbus police officer as he goes about his duties in the wake of the Police Department scandal that has rocked Ohio's capital city.

ASHAMED, BECAUSE at least nine policemen, including a sergeant, have been arrested in connection with police thefts in stores and businesses they are sworn to protect.

Conspicuous, because their blue uniforms have become the targets of public insults, jibes and ridicule as a result of the scandal.

THE ARRESTS that began last week brought into the open a department investigation that has been going on for more than a month.

Chemical charges have already been filed against three patrolmen and the sergeant. The sergeant and one patrolman were freed on bond pending hearings. The three other patrolmen charged were held in city prison.

Five patrolmen were held in prison on open charges pending filing of formal charges.

THE NINE ARRESTED so far constitute less than 2 per cent of the 534-man force. But their alleged crimes have virtually wrecked department morale.

An angry mob stood by and jeered at two officers Tuesday as they fought three men causing a disturbance in front of a night club. One of the officers was hospitalized with a broken jaw as a result of the fight.

ONE PATROLMAN said customers in the bar began calling the officers names. Another tried to incite the patrons to stop the officers.

Other patrolmen reported less violent incidents of disgracing public respect for the Police Department.

Big Colonial Empires in Africa Shaky

Nationalists Put Together Campaign To End Colonialism

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Editor

Stanleyville, a Belgian Congo city named after an explorer who helped open Africa to the white man, lately witnessed a bloody demonstration by African nationalists determined to drive the white man out.

It was another example of the rear guard action being fought by the former colonial powers of Europe to maintain a semblance of their former position on one of the world's last great frontiers.

THE LARGEST foreign holdings in Africa are those of Great Britain, France and Belgium.

Great Britain most recently granted independence to Ghana but retained it as a member of the Commonwealth.

France granted total independence to Guinea but is attempting to hold other of its former colonies inside a French "community" modeled after the commonwealth.

BUT WHETHER community or commonwealth, the move in each case was dictated by a growing demand that Africa be governed by Africans.

Abetted by the Communists, it still was a part of a world-wide growth of nationalism after World War II.

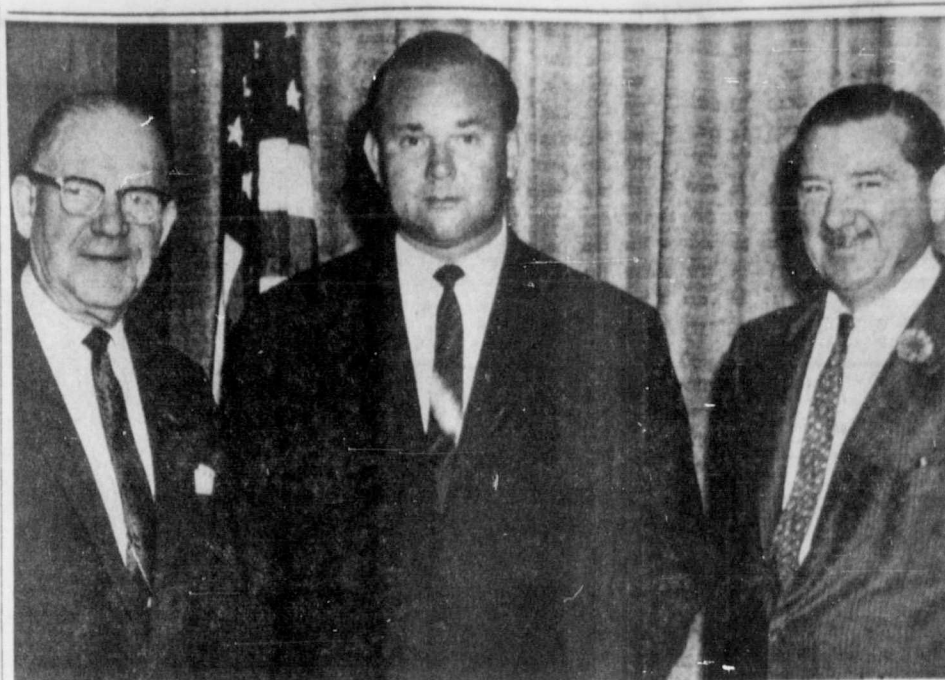

LAST JANUARY, the fever struck the Belgian Congo, for years regarded as a model of colonial administration. Seventy-six persons, both black and white, were killed in the January uprising in Leopoldville, the colonial capital. In succeeding months, others died in Lulaborg and in Matadi.

Ironically, the Belgians already had promised independence to the Belgian Congo and the machinery was in motion to hold the first elections early in 1960, with complete independence set for 1964.

Stanley's exploits are legendary now, as explorer, adventurer and one of the great newspaper reporters of his time.

IT WAS UNDER orders from King Leopold II of Belgium that Stanley undertook the explorations that led to establishment of the Congo Free State, later the Belgian Congo, an area covering nearly a million square miles and rich in uranium and diamonds.

In its early days, Stanleyville had to fight off Arab slave traders. Today it is the scene of new violence—the violent upward surge of a people determined to rule themselves, ready or not.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS, L. A. District Attorney William McKesson, and Judge Herbert Wentz of Nuremberg, Germany, spent the weekend here as guests of Charles E. Jones, of Los Angeles and Palm Springs, on right. Mr. and Mrs. Jones entertained them at their Tamarisk home. Judge Wentz will guest on "What's My Line" on Sunday night. Not shown in the picture was another guest Paul Guggenheim of the Guggenheim Foundation. Jones, Wentz and Guggenheim are all in the import-export business, and Jones plans to call on the other two when he visits Europe in January, on an around the world trip.

STORM AID GIVEN BY FIRM

A Village firm is currently aiding in the rehabilitation of thousands of homeless survivors of the Mexican hurricane — through eradication of poisonous insects which have followed in the path of the storm.

Pacific Associates sent a large number of the company's revolutionary truck-mounted Buffalo Turbine spraying dusting machines to the scene, according to Tom Hemphill, vice president.

The equipment is being used to exterminate the swarms of scorpions and tarantulas which appeared at the disaster area, and to prevent the possible outbreak of a major epidemic caused by disease carrying mosquitos, Hemphill said.

New Highway Markings Set

J. Dekema, district engineer of the Division of Highways, advised the Board of Supervisors this week that in response to their request a thorough study has been made of signing and marking on Highway 60-70 between Indio and Blythe and it has been found that the adjustment of a number of no-passing barrier stripes and the replacement of a number of guide and warning signs is advisable. "This will be accomplished as soon as possible," promised Dekema.

Castro's Cuban Crisis

Things do not seem to be going so well in Cuba these days. Revolutionary chief Fidel Castro's "socialization" program apparently is not producing enough of the promised results for his followers and the people at large.

And as is the way with national leaders under such increasing pressure for failures, the "blame" is most easily shifted to someone else.

Having confiscated most of the properties owned by Americans in Cuba, and being unable to secure the "loans" he desires from the United States, Castro has now launched an anti-America campaign.

People who know the situation well believe that he is already grasping at straws to maintain his administration and that the absurd allegations against the U. S. will in the end prove his undoing when they are seen in their true light by the people of Cuba.

His ridiculous accusation in his public television marathons that Cuba was being "bombed" by planes based in our country, when he well knew that only leaflets were dropped by a dissenting former compatriot, has lost him whatever confidence, respect and support he might have originally held among Americans.

Snarling thus at Cuba's best customer and erstwhile friendly neighbor is poor policy to say the least and probably has eliminated any chance he might have had to obtain money in the United States to finance his communistic type project of dividing up land and businesses among his followers.

Hailed as a "hero" by many a few months ago, he is now revealed as a man who won no real military victory but instead took over by default in the flight of former President Batista, and as an impractical opportunist, lacking in those qualities of leadership, ability, astuteness and diplomacy necessary to the establishment of a sound and successful government under any ideology.

Most authoritative American sources and commentators now believe that a crisis in Cuba without previous parallel is now in the making as a consequence of Castro's ill tempered, ill advised and untimely acts which he personally will be unable to surmount or survive.

And that when the Fidel Castro chapter is closed, it will be historically noted as the failure through folly of preaching "hate" for America rather than practicing friendly cooperation with Cuba's truly fine northern neighbor.

Now that Castro has shown himself in his true colors, the United States is forewarned and prepared to cope with and offer assistance in any difficulties that arise as time and circumstance reveal to be sound and proper.

Battle for the Far East

HEADQUARTERS, PACIFIC COMMAND — In a one-word description, the warfare potential in the Far East is becoming sophisticated. No longer may we assume that the fight to keep communism pinned to the mainland is what it was in the Korean conflict — the sound of bugles, the man-wave charges of Red Koreans and Chinese yelling "Kill GI!" the complete freedom of sea movements and supremacy in the air. This has all changed. The enemy has gone modern.

Whole packs of Soviet submarines range the Western Pacific. They make continuously deeper penetration of the American "lake" which now contains the two new American States. The whole Asian shoulder, which includes North Korea, Red China and Siberia, is rigged with radar. It serves the Soviet Bloc both as an Early Warning device and as combat message centers from which to direct air, sea and land attacks. These radar installations number about 125.

ON THIS SAME cold shoulder of Asia there are 400 B-29 airfields by conservative count of American intelligence sources. But these bases are mainly along the Communist shoreline. Behind these, deep in the heartland of the Red interior, there are thought to be about 150 others.

Why this concentration? Because planes and missiles from the Far East bases are globally closer to American cities and factories. These Red planes and missiles, some of them launchable from land that was conceded to Russia at the Yalta Conference, would also be assisted by powerful jetstreams in the upper altitudes.

BLOC AVIATION in the Far East has reached the high figure of 9,000 aircraft. More astonishing and significant than the number is the quality. About 6,000 of these planes are jet; only the dwindling minority are piston-driven. Despite her two-front position, facing NATO in Europe as well as SEATO and ANZUS in Asia, Russia has both the most and best Communist war planes in the Far East.

The Russian air fleet runs to about 4,200. The latest aircraft to show up, although only in limited numbers, is the MIG-19, a supersonic, all-weather, long-range fighter.

CLOSE BEHIND Russia is Red China with 4,900 planes, and North Korea with 800. All these figures are military breath-takers, considering that in World War II Russia had next to no air power, and developed it at first by copying stolen B-29's. Red China was borrowing Russian MIG's in the Korean conflict, but losing them in battle at the kill-rate of 14 to 1 against American pilots. North Korea has joined the air power club since the Panmunjom settlement.

Today, both Red China and North Korea are plentifully equipped with medium-range, jet-powered, nuclear-capable bombers — the Russian Beagle. The two other Bloc bombers, the Badger and the Bison, are held only by the Russians, who naturally keep the biggest and best for themselves. But all three of the Communist nations in the Far East are complete with the aerial back-up of airlift and trainer planes.

TODAY, AS A traveler begins to sense in moving westward to the Far East, the new philosophy is to use American military strength and knowledge in a way never fully exploited. Although the U. S. forces are at hair-trigger preparedness, there is a feeling that the fighting will be done by Asians who are determined to stay free from the mid-century imperialism of communism.

One of the turning points of the Far East may well turn out to be the small but meaningful "war" of the Taiwan Strait in the autumn of 1958. The Chinese Nationalists, American trained and American equipped, with American forces looking on, beat off a Communist invasion of the coastal islands. The Nationalists did it themselves — to their enormous satisfaction and to the thoughtful attention of six other Asian nations who take American military aid and training.

'He Doesn't Act Like a Guy Waiting to Be Drafted'

This Side Of The Sun

By Phat

Snow drifts on the mountains
 And then the threat of rain
 To people here for sunshine
 That's easy to explain.

That was worried through this old typewriter after spotting a quatrain chalked on the newsroom bulletin board.

IT IS NOT EXACTLY the same as the verse written in a neat hand on the blackboard. It is a reasonable facsimile of the first three lines but the office poet had written, for the last line, "How can we explain?"

Being an ardent booster for Palm Springs and, therefore, in the good graces of the Chamber of Commerce, I think it is easy to explain.

ANOTHER POET, not the office variety once wrote:
 "Into every life some rain must fall."

That's what I glibly and quickly reply to complaints about the moisture and then, more slowly, point out the brilliance of the sunshine which follows and how the air seems to sparkle after having been washed clean.

Gee, after writing from day to day about such mundane things as cats, traffic, dogs and so on, the above sounds like what we like to refer to in the newsroom as high writing.

TRAFFIC REMINDS ME of an item I read the other day.

Somebody with a sharp pencil or an IBM in the office of the Federal Bureau of Public Roads figured out what carelessness, discourtesy and being in too much of a hurry on our highways is costing us.

The answer that he got was that last year traffic accidents cost the nation $7,225,600,000. That makes the cost just slightly under $20 million a day or $13,800 a minute.

You might try your own mathematical skill on how much it is per second.

PALM SPRINGS gets another big boost this month from the Union Pacific railroad.

Throughout the east and in the midwest and northwest, at all points served by the UP, a brochure extolling the beauties of the Palm Springs area is being circulated.

Naturally, being the Winter Golf Capital of the World, golf gets its play on the front page of the folder.

Inside are photographs of other ways to have fun here — from just sitting in the sun, to swimming, horseback riding, hiking and everything.

INCLUDED is a partial list of our famed hotels and apartments ranging across the desert from the north end of town to La Quinta.

Accompanying the photographs of what to see and do here is an article, the high point of which sets forth:

" . . . the tremendous mental and physical uplift of the warm, dry desert climate . . . Palm Springs is the capital of Southern California's vast desert empire."

It's a nice boost and on the back page they tell people how to get here and what it costs.

STAN DELAPLANE:

Tell Me a Story

We are still shaken by the scariest Halloween story you ever heard. (It was reported by our teenage child — if there is any disaster around, she LOVES it.)

"There was this girl and boy, see? And they were parked and suddenly he said: 'Don't look now but just turn on the car key!' And —"

"What boy? What girl?"

"WELL, DON'T KNOW EXACTLY but I can get the name at school tomorrow. Because Evelyn knows her personally. Anyway —"

"Excuse me, this is not an eye-witness story, then?"

"No, but it's true! Will you stop interrupting? This boy . . ."

I AM GLAD it is not an eye-witness story. I have little faith in the eye-witness.

Did you ever listen to the eye-witness lady who just had her purse snatched?

"He was a big man, officer — Helen, get me the smelling salts again. He was very big, Officer. Helen, look and see if the road is burning. He was big and simply horrible looking. The type that would cut your throat for a nickel. I thought I would faint. Helen, see who that is at the door."

WHO WAS AT the door was me. Armed with paper and pencil. Ready to record the lady's tremors.

"What did he wear, lady?"

"Well, he was dressed in kind of a suit, a dark suit. He just said, 'Shut up!' Then he grabbed the purse and ran. I was so — Helen, see if we still got a picture of Uncle Carl. He looked something like Uncle Carl." And so on.

THE JOHNNY NABS would then take the lady down to the showup room where they would line up various hustlers and musclemen who had fallen into the grab bag.

In order to fill out the line, they would often ask a few reporters to stand in.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By LICHTY

" . . . And the man we pick must not only have the stamina to go into orbit . . . he must also be able to endure the countless luncheon and banquet meetings, afterwards!"

MIKE CONNOLLY:

'A-Feuding' A-Fussin,

Hollywood — Kim Novak and Dick Quine are a-feudin' and a-fussin' on the set of "Strangers When We Meet" at Columbia Studios. Kim's co-star, Kirk Douglas, is very much involved too. Quine was Kim's intended when he started directing the picture but it's anybody's guess what he'll be if this battling continues!

It seems to have stemmed from Kim's recent stay in New York, where she attended some Actors Studio sessions. She's been bringing "The Method" to bear on Douglas, telling him what emotions he should portray in certain scenes.

AT ONE POINT Kirk, who has fought The Battle of the Footlights with such pros as Katharine Cornell, Judith Anderson and Ruth Gordon, threw up his hands and walked off the set wailing, "I've NEVER been in such a mess!" . . . All of which drew a new title (by screenwriter Bob Turner) for the strife-torn epic: "Strangers When We Meet!"

Claire Bloom and Rod Steiger will fly to Italy after he finishes "Seven Thieves" at 20th-Fox, she to await motherhood, her husband to write, produce, direct and star in his own picture about an unusual actor who writes, produces, directs and stars in his own picture. No title yet.

COMEDIAN CARLETON Carpenter, who will wed Mailla Nurmi (known professionally as Vampira), tells me he's writing a book too and how can it keep from being a best-seller with this title: "How I Turned One Million Dollars in Real Estate into One Thousand Dollars in Las Vegas!"

The Inbal Dancers of Israel never had it tougher holding any audience's attention as they had here in Los Angeles, and I doubt if the same situation will be repeated anywhere along the line of the rest of their U. S. tour, including Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, Cleveland, Philadelphia and the final stop, New York, this coming Jan. 4.

FIRST, THEY GOT the show on the road late because of all the movie stars in the audiences who were having their photos AND their autographs taken. Second, the show got going and then came to a dead halt after first intermission by the American-Israel Cultural Foundation's plaque presentations to Spyros Skouras, Sol Hurok and Sid Rogell (Hurok made the wisest acceptance speech of all: "No speeches!").

Third, because of the intervening ceremonies, the dancers couldn't hold their audience, and after the second intermission only two-thirds of the paying customers came back to their seats (at $100 a seat for the opener, Inbal raised $46,000) . . . Oh, I forgot — they also showed film clips of President Eisenhower and Israeli Prime Minister Ben Gurion hailing the cultural exchange of America and Israel.

THE REAL FUN came after the show, in the Beverly Hilton's Grand Ballroom. Burnosed ballerinas jitterbugged with such celebrities as Rouben Mamoulian and Marcel Marceau. Inbal's Beatnik-bearded ballet boys bounced Esther Williams and Eva Marie Saint around the dance floor. Ernie Kovacs showed-ed off his dinner-jacket innovation: four cigars in the breast pocket instead of a handkerchief.

The talented Inbal-boys-&-girls bashfully sought autographs from Dinah Shore, George Montgomery, Jeff Chandler and other stars . . . And producer Sy Bartlett, whose arm decoration was wide-eyed starlet Ann McCrea, refused to partake of the expensive French champagne offered by Inbal's Hollywood hosts with: "I never drink that stuff — it makes me feel like a cloisone vase and I will NOT have people sticking flowers in me!"

CHANNEL CHATTER — Jack Harris, who produced "The Blob," is trying to borrow Efrim Zimbalist from the 77 Sunset Strip series to play half the title role (the first half!) in "Jonah and the Whale."

Wagon Train shut down for two weeks but the interrupted shooting schedule wasn't all due to Ward Bond's illness. The producers have been having a tough time finding good scripts.

When he concludes his current crop of TV and nightclub commitments, Eddie Fisher wants to quit — except for some movie acting chores with his ever-lovin' Liz Taylor. Fisher so far has spurned an Australian tour and a two-week stand at the London Palladium. However, they're taping a TV salute for Eddie Cantor, the man who discovered him, and, Fisher tells me, "I am available for anything Eddie Cantor does — anything!"

EDD ("KOOKIE") Byrnes is handing out color photos of himself these days, and autographed too, to his fans. Very expensive and something that hasn't happened in these parts, to my knowledge, since the good old silent days.

Roger Smith, that other Sunset Stripper, and his Warner-TV bosses have been about as friendly as Notre Dame's Kucharich and Northwestern's Parsenian since Smith discovered he had to pay his own medical expenses after that injury he suffered on a Warner soundstage.

JEAN SIMMONS will sidestep her starring role in "Summer and Smoke," despite Hal Wallis's announcement that she'll do it, to accompany her husband on his business-and-pleasure safari. Stewart Granger is going to Africa to hunt wild game and also to do some TV-filming of same for his new adventure series.

They've got Pippa Scott all set to tie Chicagoan John Vivyan's love-knot in every segment of the Mr. Lucky series. Now the producers are looking for another gal to sail that gambling yacht every week with Vivyan's sidekick, Ross Martin. Requirements for the doll who gets it are simple: a wiggle, a wriggle and a giggle!

BEHIND-THE-AVING-Box Romance: May Britt, just divorced from Eddie Gregson, is living alone on Malibu Colony Road facing the lonesome, November-gray Pacific Ocean — but not THAT lonesome — because bachelor Gardner (Adventures in Paradise) McKay lives just down the Road.

Don Quinn quacking: "Unemployment's gonna be a REAL problem in show business now, with all the quiz show employees walking the streets!"

Building activity in Palm Springs during October was the greatest since November 1958, with $296,160 covering 46 permits authorized.

THE PREYING MANTIS
By Linda Lee Tarbutton (11),
Desert Hot Springs School.

Oh the preying mantis on the tree,
Such a queer, small thing she seems to me.
She is an insect, as everyone knows,
With such pretty wings for her dainty clothes.

Sometimes she's brown and sometimes green,
But she always blends in where she can't be seen.
She eats things like moths

and flies,
And never sweet things like cakes and pies.

WHEN I WRITE

At home or school I like to write.
On any day or every night.
But when my eyes begin to blink
Then it's time for bed, I think.

Now for another. Al, Dick, Jack and Tom were counting up the results of a day's fishing. Tom had caught more than Jack. Between them, Al and Dick had caught just as many as Jack and Tom. Al and Tom had not caught as many as Dick and Jack. Who had caught the most, second most, third most and least?

Cup Teams Enjoy 'Celebrity' Play

JOHN CONNORS, TAMARISK Country Club, shows Carl Heuer of Germany around the Eldorado Course during the Ryder Cup tournament. Players Clown on First Tee

Sparked by a day of comedy and relaxation in yesterday's 18-hole Pro-Celebrity Tournament at Eldorado Country Club, members of the British and American Ryder Cup teams today resumed practice for the opening rounds of tomorrow's international competition.

Relaxed and at ease after yesterday's competition, both teams were reported in "excellent condition" for the last minute conditioning today.

AFTER TODAY'S "conditioning" matches, selections will be made for eight men from each team who will compete in the first day Scotch Foursome matches Friday. Another eight of the ten men on each team will be chosen for Saturday's play.

Over 1,000 persons gathered tight around number one tee yesterday to watch the antics of a score of celebrities and leading professionals as they marched to the tee to play the pro-celebrity matches, clowning with one another and for the gallery.

BOB HOPE, a member of the last foursome to tee off, took a couple of practice shots on the putting green, missed the first three shots from about 5 1/2 feet, turned to the gallery and said, "I'll bet you don't think I'm ready?" He immediately sank four more shots in quick succession. Cradling his putter un-

CUP PLAY STARTS TOMORROW

Snead, Middlecoff Tie in Celebrity

Doubles First on Program

They start playing for keeps tomorrow in the 13th annual Ryder Cup matches between Great Britain and the United States.

Following a week of Pro-Member tournaments, Pro-Celebrity play and three days of practice rounds which came to an end today, first play in the Cup matches starts tomorrow at Eldorado Country Club.

FOUR DOUBLES matches are on the schedule tomorrow—and eight singles on Saturday.

Each match counts up one point for the total of 12.

Eight players from the two ten-man teams will compete each day, in the four doubles tomorrow and eight singles Saturday.

Captains Sam Snead of the American team and Captain Dai Rees of the British will announce their teams for tomorrow's doubles this afternoon.

FINAL PRACTICE sessions were played this morning and the foursomes for tomorrow's play will be made after the rival captains study the results.

Christy O'Connor's victory in Wednesday's Pro-Celebrity matches and the showing of other members of the invaders has aroused their hopes of breaking a long standing jinx.

In the twelve previous matches, Great Britain has never won one on American soil.

THE SERIES now stands eight for the United States and four for Great Britain.

This is the second time the Ryder Cup matches have been played in the Palm Springs area. In 1955 at Thunderbird Country Club, the U.S. team won 8 to 4.

In 1957 in England, the British won 7½ to 4½.

Christy O'Connor, Wednesday's winner, sparked in that one, too. Winning from Dow Finsterwald at Sheffield, 7 and 6.

der his arm, he walked to the first tee, remarking as he went, "Can we get a cart with a lower berth?"

Another incident that keeps coming to the foreground concerning players on the Eldorado course, is the persistence of some golfers to stop their play long enough "for a bit of fishing."

REPORTS SAY that both Sam Snead and Julius Boros were carrying fishing equipment in their golf bag, and getting to the sixth fairway, stopped to drop a well-trimmed lure into the lake.

Between them, they brought in a total of six bass, but threw them back into another water trap. When questioned by a spectator on his golfing, Snead quipped, "Didn't do bad, shot a 73 and caught three bass. . . I've never been fishing on a golf course before."

AND THE SEVEN lakes at Eldorado also brought some Johnny Weissmuller, the first Tarzan and one time holder of 57 swimming records. "I look down one of the 400 yard fairways and remember when I could swim in just better than two minutes, and today it takes me 15 or 20 minutes to walk it behind a golf ball."

In yesterday's play, Buddy Rogers was the only player who didn't get off number one tee by at least 150 yards, and Dennis Moragn, TV star of "21 Beacon Street," was the only left-hander to play the links, and he did right well, with a best ball 71.

Grant Setting Fast Pace in Maryland

LAUREL, Md. (UPI) — Jockey Howard Grant is setting a torrid 476 pace at Laurel. Always at his best on the Maryland circuit, Grant has scored with 20 of 42 mounts since the current season opened last Wednesday. He has finished out of the money only nine times.

It's Up to O'Malley To Share the Wealth

NEW YORK (UPI) — The question whether Los Angeles will have a second major league baseball franchise apparently boils down to this: Will Dodger President Walter O'Malley share his gold mine?

Stanley Brown, president of the would-be Los Angeles Stars, said Wednesday after conferring with Continental League officials, that Los Angeles may have another franchise "if Mr. O'Malley is willing."

bout last Jan. 16, was no match for the champion tonight. After a slow start Perez bloodied Yaito's nose in the fourth round and built up steam as the fight went on.

He staggered Yaito with the first hard punch of the fight in the fourth with a right to the body. OSAKA, Japan (UPI) — World flyweight champion Pascual Perez retained his title tonight by knocking out Japanese challenger Sadao Yaito in 55 seconds of the 13th round of their scheduled 15-round title bout before 20,000 spectators.

The 33-year-old Perez showed remarkable condition as he battered 24-year-old Yaito with smashing lefts and rights to the body and head. The end came suddenly in the 13th when Perez shot a jolting right to Yaito's stomach as Yaito was stepping away.

Yaito went down and referee Juan Norita of Argentina counted four before the Japanese stood up. Perez quickly followed up with a short right to the jaw and Yaito fell backward flat on his back and was counted out.

Yaito, who won a 10-round decision over Perez in a non-title

He began landing heavier and heavier punches in later rounds, always forcing the attack.

The Argentinian cut loose in the 11th with a series of looping lefts to the body that staggered the challenger. He staggered him again with a straight left to the jaw, increasing the pace constantly against the blood-splattered contender.

Only the bell saved Yaito in the 12th round. Perez attacked with a flurry of slashing lefts and rights to the head and body which drove the challenger to the ropes as the round ended. And 53 seconds after the 13th round opened Perez flattened him for the full count.

Yaito had won 31 of his 39 professional bouts before tonight's title bout. He lost six and had two draws. The more experienced Perez had 53 bouts in which he suffered only one defeat and one draw. The lone loss was to Yaito in their non-title match.

Rams, 49ers Meet in Key Pro Game Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — It'll be the old story of the "irresistible force vs. the immovable object" Sunday when the Forty Niners and Rams battle in the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The Los Angeles Rams, despite their 2-4 season mark, must rate as the powerful force, since they lead all the other pro football teams in total offense. The Rams have rolled up a total of 2,159 yards this year.

But the San Franciscans, under the first-year tutelage of coach Red Hickey, have not been easy men to move this season. The Forty Niners, fifth in total offense, are second only to the Green Bay Packers in defensive statistics.

The odds makers aren't too awed by the 5-1 record San Francisco carries into the Ram tilt, and some coaches have tabbed the Los Angeles club the slight favorite.

The Rams have won the last seven consecutive games against the Forty Niners in the Coliseum.

San Francisco won the first meeting between the two teams earlier at Kezar Stadium, 34-0.

Sunday's game will be the first of four straight away games for the Forty Niners, a road trip considered crucial in their quest for San Francisco's initial Western division crown.

"We know where we're going and we're not going to panic," says Coach Hickey. "The Forty Niners have been in this position and folded. This team won't do it."

TIGER BLASTS DECISION GIVING GIARDELLO WIN

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — An anguished roar which reverberated through Cleveland Arena Wednesday night came from Dick Tiger, British Empire middleweight champion.

Tiger cut loose with the blast in the wake of his upset defeat in a unanimous decision for Joey Giardello in their 10-round nationally televised fight before about 2,500 fans.

Visibly shaken by the unexpected decision, the 30-year-old, 161-pound Nigerian, who five weeks ago registered a similar decision over Giardello in Chicago, let the roar speak for itself, while he brooded in his dressing room.

But the Tiger's manager, Jersey Jones, had plenty to say. "I thought the refereeing was the worst I have seen in years," he exclaimed. "He wouldn't let them fight in close."

Giardello, 29, who weighed in at 160 for the return match, took a chorus of boos from the fans along with his decision. Rocked repeatedly by stiff hooks to the body and sharp combinations to the jaw, the Philadelphian, fighting now out of Brooklyn, N. Y., was obviously tired in the closing rounds.

The Tiger, who forged an early lead in the fight, drew repeated warnings from referee Don Gonzales for butting. A one point loss in the ninth round for heady tactics apparently was the margin of victory for Giardello.

O'Connor Wins Pro Division

Christy O'Connor, from County Donegal, Ireland, paced the pros of the two Ryder Cup teams — Great Britain and the United States — Wednesday in the Pro-Celebrity tournament at Eldorado Country Club, Palm Desert, when he shot a 33-35-68, two under par.

While O'Connor was leading the field, another member of the British Ryder Cup team, Dave Thomas, tied for second place, one stroke behind at 69, with Jay Herbert and Art Wall Jr., of the American team.

THE PRO CELEBRITY tournament wound up in a tie between Sam Snead and his partner, Bob Sterling and Cary Middlecoff and his companion, Jim (Maverick) Garner. They both wound up with best ball scores of 63.

Snead started out with an eagle but wound up with a 73.

Coming in with 70s in the pro division, Julius Boros, U.S., and Cary Middlecoff were tied.

KEN BOUSFIELD, Great Britain, and Bob Rosburg, U.S. were next with 71s.

Snead's 73 tied him with Peter Mills, Great Britain.

While two American teams won the Pro-Celebrity tournament, two British pros led the third place bracket with 65s.

They were British Captain Dai Rees, teamed with Freeman Gosden of Amos and Andy fame, and Peter Mills, whose partner was Ray Bolger.

D'Amato Facing License Battle In Probe Today

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fight manager Gus D'Amato finally faces the New York State Athletic Commission today at a license revocation hearing.

Five misconduct charges are filed against D'Amato, manager of former heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson, in an attempt to revoke D'Amato's licenses as manager and second. The licenses already are suspended.

At today's hearing, he must "show cause" why the licenses should not be revoked.

The five charges resulted from testimony at the commission's previous general hearings into the promotion of the June 26 fight at Yankee Stadium in which Sweden's Ingemar Johansson won the world heavyweight championship from Patterson.

Handsome trophies bearing the Racquet Club insignia, will go to the winners.

Banks Award to Bring Revision In MVP Voting

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ernie Banks' selection as the National League's Most Valuable Player for a second straight year may lead to a revision in the annual system of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

The association agreed three years ago under pressure from baseball commissioner Ford Frick to select an annual "Cy Young" Award a pitcher of the year in addition to the Most Valuable Player awards in both leagues.

Frick argued that the system would "give the pitchers a break."

In practice, however, it appears the pitchers aren't getting any break at all.

This was demonstrated again in this year's M. V. P. voting when Sam Jones, a 21-game winner who appeared in 50 games for the San Francisco Giants, and Elroy Face, who compiled the greatest relief pitching record 18 wins and one loss in baseball history, rated no better than fifth and seventh respectively.

The writers, who were concerned at the trend the balloting was taking when Banks won the M.V.P. award in 1958, agreed to take the matter under study "out of respect for Frick."

Don Newcombe of the Dodgers was both the M. V. P. and Cy Young awards in 1957.

Arner, Harris Recount Tour Of Wyoming's Fossil Beds

By JEAN PATANE

Sam Arner, (Desert Realty) joined Ward Harris, manager of Edison Laboratories and a prominent San Francisco manufacturer, for a month during the summer on an exploring expedition with Harris' specially constructed safari trailer truck, that enabled them to get into the wild desert areas and the famous Morrison formations of Wyoming where so many fossils are embedded.

Their trek took them through Buffalo Bill's favorite country around Cody, Greybull, Lander, Wamsutter, Sweetwater, River County, the Red Desert and Kemmerer in the southwest part of the state.

THEY BROUGHT back many fossilized objects including about 50 belemnites (a prehistoric type of squid) petrified head of a prehistoric horse known as the three-toed eolophus, a bushel of dinosaur gastroliths, many highly polished in the dinosaur's gizzard, that were found near the quarry where in 1934 the New York State Museum of Natural History excavated one of the dinosaur skeletons now on exhibition in that museum, according to Arner.

Other objects were a large cycad in perfect formation (a prehistoric plant similar to the sage palm), petrified bamboo stalks, an old but well preserved Arapaho war club and a number of ammonites, the fossilized shells whose wrinkled whorls suggest the ram's horns which often appeared on the Egyptian god Ammon, and according to science, are around 120,000,000 million years old.

IN ONE PLACE they found some specimens of green beryl which the government uses to trigger "H" bombs. On the Shoshone Indian Reservation they found fossil fish scales in slate, clams, ammonites and bird gastroliths, which are supposedly from the giant seven foot high Diatryma bird which resembled an ostrich that roamed over Wyoming and other parts of the west in years gone by.

Arner said they secured about ten pounds each of Sweetwater pebble agates that fluoresce a light green, which are becoming quite scarce. They picked them up at night under a portable ultra violet lamp. The largest fossil pebbles in the world are near Kemmerer, Wyo., and south of Wamsutter there is an abundance of blue turella shell agate.

Said Arner, "The strangest thing I saw on this expedition was a rattlesnake which lived inside a bentonite deposit of a Morrison formation, en route to the jade fields. This is uranium country and I don't know if he was absorbing any tint from yellow carnotite or not, but he was the rattler I ever saw which was yellow with black checkered marks."

Relies from this trip and the many objects he has collected during his many trips in the United States, Europe, Mexico and Central America, Arner plans on displaying in the museum he will build in the near future in Cathedral City.

OF INTEREST also will be priceless objects of Maya, Aztec, Tarascan, Mixtec, Zapotec, Olmec and Toltec Pre-Columbian cultures of Mexico and Central America and relics from Egypt. Many of these objects are now on display on the walls of his Desert Realty office.

Ward Harris has the world's third largest collection of Edison's original models and earliest inventions, housed in a private museum on his Atherton estate, representing an investment of over $400,000. Second to this collection, his chief interest is collecting fossils pertaining to the dinosaur age period. Harris is not a stranger to the desert, having recently planted 120 acres of citrus trees on his ranch near Indio.

The well known artist, Mrs. Sybil Huntington of Winnemucca, Nev., arrived last week with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Huntington of Yuba City, who have purchased a home on Second Street and will make Cathedral City their permanent home. Mrs. Huntington, with her paints and easel, will spend the winter at Wolcott's Desert Lodge.

Mrs. Donna Wilson returned last Wednesday, via the airways, from a week of business and pleasure in Indiana. She accompanied her husband, Nathan Wilson, to Indianapolis where he attended the Indiana State Teachers Institute. He is a teacher in their home town of Madison, Ind. Mrs. Wilson will remain in Cathedral City until the estate of her late sister, Jeanne Marnell, is settled.

Ben Scott of Scott's Desert Wear left today for Phoenix, Ariz., to attend Market Week.

Last Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Roger Deason were completely surprised when friends arrived at their new Wonder Palms home for a housewarming party. Delighted with the success of the no-host surprise affair were Messieurs and Mesdames: John Hendrickson, Wilbur Clark, Don Talling, Gerald Jessup, Densen Pickell, Jack Goings, Marshall Goodwin, Bud Barkley, Ed Slaughter, Ronnie Newland, Howard Deason, George Kennan and Hal Wright.

While spending the weekend in Santa Monica with her husband, Bob Irvine, Mrs. Irvine (Amelia) attended the annual Halloween Carnival at Lincoln Junior High School where he teaches math, English and social studies. Mrs. Irvine is owner of the Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio.

Among the weekend guests at Desert Villa were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Janke of Sherman Oaks. Mr. and Mrs. George Markham and friends from San Diego were here for a few days the early part of this week.

Guests of Mrs. Robertson Burton Stephens III for the weekend at the desert home of her mother, Mrs. Ernest Wennermark, were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Becker and young daughter, Julie, of La Mirada. Last weekend Mrs. Stephens, who was here with her children, Debbie and Bobbie, had as her houseguest Mrs. Noel Whelan, of the drug store family, who is also from La Mirada.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Henderson, winter residents from Santa Clara, accompanied Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Day to their cabin at Idyllwild, where the first snow of the season covered the ground. Mr. and Mrs. Day spend the summers and many weekends throughout the winter at their Idyllwild home.

Visiting over the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Sharp was Miss Dorothy Estes of Pasadena. She is a close friend of the Sharp's daughter, Mrs. Tom (Midge) Donahoe since their grammar school days. Mrs. Donahoe and sons, Tommy and baby Ronny, are living with her parents while her husband is on duty away from his station at the San Diego Naval Base.

SIR CHUCK OF RAMON, prize-winning Yorkshire Terrier owned by Stella and Swede Davis of the Ramon Kennels, won Best of Breed at the Glendale Kennel Club Show Sunday. They also entered their Sir Hughie of Ramon and he won best of winners award. The two Yorkshires won the same ribbons at the San Fernando Oct. 18 show. The Davises have won more firsts with their Yorkshires in the last three years than any other Yorkshire kennels in the country.

COUNTY REVISES, ADOPTS NEW LAW

Hearings on the controversial proposed new subdivision ordinance for Riverside County came to an end this week, and the Board of Supervisors by a vote of three to two adopted it, with two major changes. One change was complete elimination of regulations for land divisions, and the other was a change in the definition of a subdivision.

It was Supervisor George Berkeley who suggested that the controversial nine-acre lot size contained in the definition of a subdivision be changed to two and one-half acres. As revised, the definition will state that a subdivision is any property divided into five or more lots or parcels any one of which has an area of less than two and one-half acres.

THE PRESENT ordinance defines as a subdivision any division of land into five or more lots of less than one acre.

Milland Wants College Education

NEW YORK—"YOU don't think I'm nuts, do you—about wanting to go back to college?" Ray Milland asked with a serious look in his eye.

"Everybody's kidding me about it—asking 'When are you going to get the spittles out?'"

Milland said that his plan to become "the world's oldest college freshman" has been at least delayed because his private-eye TV show, "Markham," has hit the top ratings, and now he is too big a hit to retire. He's got to wait now till he's either a flop or they tire of him.

"In about three years, it looks like," he said, asking the waiter at 21 to put water in his scotch Manhattan.

"You see, it's partly guilt, because I threw college away."

"Yep, I got busted out of college in Wales when I was 16. You weren't allowed to have cars. I had one and stashed it 10 miles away."

"I got caught and expelled. I thought that was the greatest day of my life—I didn't want to go to college anyway."

Milland said that now in middle age, with an itchy foot and a vast curiosity, he wants "to learn languages perfectly and study archaeology—which to me is the most romantic of all subjects."

He contemplates his college career—probably in Spain—as he zooms about the world doing his TV films. (He was just in Honolulu and will go to England.) "You're not complete if you don't know languages thoroughly," he said. "I want to be complete before I die . . ."

THIS IS THE "Sun Goddess," which is planned as an entrance way to the City of Palm Springs by internationally known sculptor Lawrence Tenney Stevens of Tempe, Ariz. In 1941 he completed a 10-foot high similar work. The above sketch is scaled to 34 feet, an arbitrary height, with the final size determined in this case by the money available for such a project.

the forms of the barrel cactus." The figure symbolizes the geography and elemental forces, so uniquely the character of Palm Springs with its sense of great scale determined by the expanse of desert and the thrusting mountain peaks.

AS EXPLAINED by Stevens, "the grace of the figure and the 'Mona Lisa' expression of the face with its aura of massive hair seems to signify the sun and invigorating air. I used large limbs of the tree to supply the outstretched arms which touch the tops of the cactus form, thus symbolizing all of the desert and its forms, touched by the Mother-Sun."

And as the noted sculptor continued with the work, so grew the idea that this could be the basic form for a "huge and gracious entrance gate to the City, comparable to the Colossus of Rhodes. The 'Sun Goddess,' soaring up from the desert floor, seen from a great distance, and as approached by the traveler, a sense of excitement and wonder comes over him with the climax reached as his car sweeps under the Goddess' arm, outgoing traffic leaving under the other arm."

MATERIALS? ANY number are available, Stevens said. Perhaps plastic with the use of color by day and light by night for fantastic appearance. Or solid marble, stone or cast-stone.

Possibilities? Perhaps an elevator could be installed to take people to the top of the head where there would be space for a protective rail, and the public would have the thrill of enjoying the panorama of the desert, mountains and city.

Clarke Eyes Balzac in Lecture Here

'Art of Writing' Topic for Latest In Living Series

"Balzac and the Art of Writing," fourth in the current series of Adventures in Living talks and discussions with author-philosopher John Robert Clarke, will be presented at 8 p. m., tonight in the main lounge of the Desert Inn, it was announced.

Reviewing the life and verbal antics of one of France's greatest novelists, Clarke will consider to what extent Balzac's way affords incentive to those who would write today.

"FEW REALIZE," said Clarke, "that Balzac personally was his own walking theater, who did everything 'in the large', whose cane was like a huge parking meter studded with jewels, and who—desiring to be socially famous—wore a large turban with the plumb of an hippopotamus."

Clarke pointed out, in advance of his lecture, that Balzac always doubted his own powers as a writer, and once said, "Do what I will, I'm afraid the hand of the novice will always be recognizable." Yet this novice, Clarke added, kept seven presses and 24 workmen going night and day, and every book he wrote was hungrily pirated by Belgian publishers before the ink was dry, and released over Europe in editions cheaper than Paris could make with no profit to Balzac.

"It is understandable," said Clarke, "that Balzac had trouble keeping his fictional and real people straight, and often preferred the former."

CLARKE, whose weekly talks on historical personalities are now in their sixteenth series in San Diego and their second series locally, follows each talk by a rearrangement of seating for a "Great Circle Discussion", unique "It is our way," said Clarke, "of looking together for a non-dogma road toward understanding ourselves and our friends. Most persons on this road, 'he added, 'gain the most when they do their own walking, at their own pace."

Will the dream of 18 years come true? Stevens final comment was: "I am ready . . . are you?"

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: I am in my second year of High School. I have no boy friends. As a matter of fact I have no girl friends either. They say I am dumb, but I am really not dumb. I am so shy that when somebody says hello to me I rarely answer. I get so nervous when the teacher asks me to recite before the class that I say I don't know. But I really do know. I am just too bashful to talk. My mother says if I don't meet people half-way I will never have any friends. I know she is right, Abby, but I just can't make myself be any bolder. Maybe I will grow out of it, but in the meantime what should I do?

ALONE

DEAR ALONE: You've got a case of super-shyness and the only cure is to force yourself to talk to someone about it. Go to your favorite teacher (or perhaps the dean of girls) or even a girl whom you admire, and confide your problem. You must TRY to cultivate a few friends. Unless you give your own friendship you cannot expect others to offer you theirs. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: We know a very nice couple who have been giving three-year-old child sleeping pills every since she was an infant because they say they need their sleep.

We think this is harmful. It is the same kind of sleeping pill adults take on a doctor's prescription.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

tion. They crush the pill and give her half a pill in her milk before bedtime. We have seen them do it. They are not ignorant ruffians. They are both college educated. Is there something we can do about it without losing their friendship?

FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: For goodness sakes, risk your "friendship" and ask these people point-blank if the baby's doctor is aware of what they are giving their child. I seldom recommend interfering in the personal business of others, but when the health of a child is concerned, I have a moral right (and obligation) to investigate this matter thoroughly.

What's your problem? For a personal reply write to ABBY, care of The Desert Sun. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

This is that ONE in a MILLION!

TEEN ANGEL TEENS are very proud of the Youth Group Achievement Award which they have received from Parents Magazine. Here Teen Angel Diane Copass holds the award. On left is Marcella McGinley; on right, Carole Winslow.

A new Teen Angel will be haloed in Desert Hot Springs Saturday and contestants are working hard, hoping to win the coveted honor. Almost as much of an inspiration is the trip to Hawaii, the date with handsome Mark Damon and a ticket to the fabulous Carnation Ball.

Among the leading contestants are the 14 girls pictured on this page. A short profile of each girl follows:

BONNIE BLACKSTONE — a junior at Palm Springs High School, gives her reason for running for Teen Angel as, "I've had therapy all my 16 years and I know how valuable it is to the handicapped child, so I feel it is a worthwhile project to work on and it is wonderful to have a clinic such as Angel View available right here in the desert."

Miss Blackstone is interested in music and belongs to the Minstrel Group and Glee Club at school.

LUCILLE CARTER a 15-year-old native Californian is out working hard to raise money for Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic.

Lucille came to Desert Hot Springs at the age of seven for her own health and she realizes how much good living in the desert does for little ones.

Miss Carter is fond of athletics and says she is quite serious about becoming a policewoman.

SANDY FITZGERALD, another entrant in the Teen Angel Contest, has a wonderful reason for entering the contest. Sandy has been under treatment at Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic for the past year and as she says, "I'm anxious to repay in my small way what the clinic has done for me."

Sandy is a brunette with green eyes and was 17 in August. Her brothers, Mark and Steven also have been patients at the clinic.

MARY FAITH GASTEL—a brunette with brown eyes, reports if she wins the Teen Angel contest she will do a lot of water skiing in Hawaii as that is her favorite hobby.

Miss Gastel has been working hard collecting votes to help the children at Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic and hopes to come up with a "special" idea to collect more votes.

Mary is 14 years old and a freshman at Palm Springs High School.

GERI LEONARD, a 15-year-old sophomore at Palm Springs High School and a resident of Desert Hot Springs for four years, has high hopes that she can win the contest so she can take her mother to Hawaii.

Geri knows the importance of the desert to a person with arthritis, as her family moved here for the health of her father. She is anxious to do anything to help Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic.

CAROL LINDBON, who has lived in Desert Hot Springs for five years and seen Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic in its embryo stages, tells us she is out to work "but hard," "to help those darling children."

Carol is 15 years old and a sophomore at Palm Springs High School. She comes from Galesburg, Illinois and her hobby is swimming and cooking.

Miss Lindbon has brown hair and eyes and is full of energy and anxious to win the trip to Hawaii so she can take her mother on a much needed vacation.

PAULINE MAVRIDAKE — a petite 17-year-old senior at Palm Springs is from Greece, coming here three years ago.

Pauline reports that the American government built a wonderful clinic in Greece and doesn't understand why they can't do that here.

After visiting Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic during the contest days, Pauline and becoming interested in the good that was being done, is all out to help.

She hopes to attend college in this country and if she wins the trip to Hawaii will take her mother with her.

MARCELLA MCGINLEY the only entrant in the contest from last year. She tells a heart warming story of two little children who put their dimes in her "widdle" can so they could help other children, and gave up their candy money to do it.

Marcella is a tall, stately miss and an accomplished violinist. Her ambition is to be a secretary and she hopes to carry on with her music.

GEORGIA MORRIS a 15-year-old entrant in the Teen Angel Contest says she is an old hand at collecting money. She holds several offices at Palm Springs High School and one of them is secretary of Student Ambassadors. Each year they collect money to send students to Washington D.C.

Georgia plans to enter college after high school and become a bio-chemist.

Miss Morris says, "I became a Teen Angel contestant to raise money for the new wing of Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic, but now that the money has been donated for that, I guess I will help furnish it."

JULIA ROSSIO, another red-headed Teen Angel contestant, who is anxious to help furnish the clinic with necessary equipment has been working very hard for her votes.

Miss Rossio loves to cook and sew and says "I hope to be a lawyer when I finish school."

Julia has lived in Palm Springs for five years and comes from Miami Beach, Florida. "If I win the contest, I'll take my mother with me and we'll spread the word over there on Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic, and hope to do as good a job as Dianne Copass did last year."

Petite CHARLOTTE SEALES has lived in Desert Hot Springs since she was two years old, Charlotte says, "I've seen the Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic grow from a small building on Pierson Blvd. to the rapidly expanding units on the hill, and I want to help it grow even bigger."

Charlotte has sent letters all over the state and out of state hoping to get votes and spread publicity about the Clinic.

Miss Seales is a brunette with blue eyes and her hobbies are swimming and sewing. She is being sponsored by the Desert Hot Springs Rotary Club and hopes to bring in some votes by holding a barbecue.

CAROLE WINSLOW a Palm Springs resident for three years reports, "I'm amazed at all the progress those children have made at Angel View. I had to see with my own eyes to believe the strides that have been made. I'm anxious to help the Clinic and this contest gives me the chance."

Carol is a tall blonde with hazel eyes and her hobbies are swimming, tennis and art. She says she is very interested in real estate especially in the desert area and hopes, after school, to become a saleslady.

Miss Winslow has been to Hawaii twice and has her fingers crossed, that perhaps there will be a third trip in the offing.

LARILEE AVANT, age 17, is not only a brown-eyed red-headed beauty, but she can cook, too! In the race for Teen Angel of 1960, Larilee has decided to bake some cakes and sell them to local residents as a way of raising money for votes.

A native Californian, Miss Avant came to the desert because her mother was suffering from arthritis.

Larilee became interested in Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic when she met Garnet Johnson, and saw the progress that Garnet made from a wheel chair to walking.

Larilee hopes to go to beauty college after her graduation from Palm Springs High and plans to take her mother with her on the trip to Hawaii if she wins the contest. Larilee is a Desert Hot Springs entrant and is sponsored by the Optimist Club of Desert Hot Springs.

BETTY COLVIN, the only entrant from Indio, is 15 years old and a freshman at Indio High School.

Betty has a wonderful reason for entering the contest as her 18-month old sister has been taking advantage of the Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic the past five months. Betty says, "She has improved so much since she has been going to the Clinic and I feel like I'd like to do something in my way to repay what they have done for her."

Miss Colvin is a rock hound and enjoys scouting around in the desert looking for unusual and interesting rocks.

Annual Penny Carnival This Weekend

Much activity is going on out Desert Hot Springs way where the A. V. C. C. Women's Auxiliary and committee members of the Foundation are busy preparing for the Penny Carnival to take place November 5, 6 and 7 in Desert Hot Springs.

The 16-bed rehabilitation building which is being built at an estimated cost of $100,000 and being donated to the Foundation by Aubrey Wardman, will have to be furnished and staffed and it is toward this goal that all those connected with Angel View Crippled Children's Clinic are diligently working.

The Penny Carnival is the first fund raising venture to take place this year since the new building has been assured.

Added to the list of growing concessions at the carnival is a cake booth under the auspices of the mothers of the children now under treatment at the Clinic. The cake will be made from Duncan Hines mixes, donated by the Duncan Hines Company.

A number of stage and screen celebrities are expected to be on hand and a large stage will be erected to house the entertainment and contests.

Johnny Ledwon, nationally famous 16-year old organist and a former Desert Hot Springs resident, will be one of the featured entertainers. To date Ledwon has made over 200 appearances including TV and radio. He plays everything from Bach to pops.

JOHNNY LEDWON, nationally famous 18-year-old pianist and a former Desert Hot Springs resident, will be one of the featured entertainers at the Penny Carnival.

Unitarian-Universalist Merger to Be Discussed at Churchwomen's Meeting

The distaff side of Unitarian and Universalist Churches from Albuquerque to Honolulu will be well represented this weekend when women delegates of three liberal churchwomen's groups start arriving tomorrow for a three-day conference. Groups represented are the Pacific Coast South Region of the General Alliance of Unitarian and other Liberal Christian Women; the Associate Alliance of Southern California, Arizona, New Mexico, West Texas, and Hawaii; and the California Association of Universalist Women.

An ambitious program includes eight or more workshops in which the ladies will explore new leadership techniques, discuss mutual problems, gain insight into denominational affairs as well as look more deeply into program planning, service projects, fund raising, churchmanship in general. Of the two host motels, Sunny Stones and Embassy, the former will be the scene of a reception for national officers, including Mrs. Victor W. Odin, Director of Pacific Coast South Region of the General Alliance; Mrs. Frank A. Buell, President of the Associate Alliance; and Miss Flora J. Turner, President of California Association of Universalist Women.

The Saturday activities will be climaxed by dinner at the Biltmore where reports will be heard from delegates, who also will have attended the Biennial Conference of Unitarians and Universalists held in Syracuse October 27 through November 1, as to the latest developments in the proposed merger of Unitarians and Universalists at the national level. (A plebiscite throughout all churches of the two denominations in the United States and Canada during the winter and spring of 1958-1959 showed between 70 per cent and 75 per cent in favor of merging the two denominations.)

Worship Services, to which the general public is cordially invited, will close the conference on Sunday morning. A hymn contest in connection with the conference may produce a hymn for use in the services.

According to Mrs. Odin, representing the General Alliance, this is the first event of such magnitude involving the three national churchwomen's groups, with the planning and entire program handled by experts from their own ranks — lay women delegates and ministers' wives, and noteworthy results are expected from this conference.

Gale Storm Has Determination

EDITOR'S NOTE: — This is the third of five dispatches describing the careers of the queens of television.

By RICK DU BROWN
UPI Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — When Gale Storm's TV show switched recently from CBS to ABC, she insisted that every member of her technical crew be brought along. She got her way — and saved a number of technicians from losing their jobs.

THIS KIND OF determination is probably the main reason the 37-year-old actress has survived the hazards of TV — first on "My Little Margie" and now on "The Gale Storm-Oh Susanna Show."

Shortly before appearing in "My Little Margie," she tossed aside a movie career even though she was a steadily working leading lady.

"Whenever the picture was great, the part was small," she said. "And when I got a good role the picture was never seen by the people who count."

"MY LITTLE" Margie called for her to be a comedienne. But for most of her movie career, she had been in musicals, dramas, horror pictures and westerns which "required me to dab at my eyes regularly as the cowboy rode off into the sunset."

Gale admitted many persons probably tuned in "Margie" at first to see "Charlie Farrell's co-star." But "Margie" ran for three years — and "Oh Susanna" is heading in the same direction.

IN 1953, ONE year after "Margie" made its debut Gale determined to cash in on her "undiscovered" singing voice. "If I didn't have the intense desire to sing well, I don't suppose I could sing a note — but I wanted it every badly," she said.

So she went to the Thunderbird Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., and immediately broke the nightclub attendance record.

SOON SHE MADE her debut as a recording artist. Three of her songs, "I Hear You Knocking," "Teenage Prayer" and "Memories Are Made of This," landed in the top 20.

"I think opera is the maximum of self-expression," she said. "What I wouldn't give to be able to give a good performance in 'La Boheme' or 'Madame Butterfly'!"

GALE'S EARLIEST childhood ambition was to be a choir singer.

Born Josephine Cottle in Bloomington, Tex., she won a film contract in 1939 when she came in first in movie pioneer Jesse Lasky's "Gateway to Hollywood" radio talent search.

She appeared in such films as "Tom Brown's School Days," "One Crowded Night," "Let's Go Collegiate," "Saddlemates" and "Lure of the Islands."

FRUSTRATED BY her movie roles, she said: "My favorite song is 'TV Is Here to Stay,' and I want to stay with it."

In private life, Gale is the wife of Lee Bonnell, an insurance broker. They have three sons and a daughter.

Next: Ann Sothern.

SPECIAL HELPING OF HAM SERVED

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI) — Having parodied his blundered egghed, Charles Van Doren, it was appropriate for NBC-TV to serve up a special helping of ham Tuesday night.

The hams came in three assorted sizes: Large (Dean Martin), medium (Frank Sinatra) and small (Mickey Rooney). All were on display during Hubbell Robinson's hour-long startime show.

HERE AND NOW I'll go on record with the statement that in my opinion, the star of the show, Dean Martin, was sober. How else could he have remembered the intricate placements of eight plugs during the show?

The show had an unassuming air, with no bombshell-type entertainment. A lot of it has been seen before, of course, and yet when Martin, Sinatra and Rooney joined in horsplay and a medley of Rodgers and Hart songs, I felt entertained. I also drew some mild chuckles out of the running gag about Rooney's hypersensitivity about his size.

BUT THIS WAS Martin's show, not Sinatra's and some disciplinary problems were evident. I mentioned the plugs earlier. And the show wasn't one minute old before reference was made to Martin's tipping. Such things, strangely enough, didn't happen the last time Martin and Sinatra were seen on the TV tube together.

Because of the reputations that Sinatra and Rooney have acquired, I found myself making mental footnotes all through the show. They went like this:

—GOSH, SINATRA'S pompadour is getting higher than Martin's.

—Gee, Dean is the only one on stage who hasn't married Ava Gardner.

—Yipes, Mickey is singing, "All I Need Is A Girl."

—Rooney, a high - strung performer, is working nicely along despite those two casual fellows. There's a nice easy bounce and humor about their work. And that sums up the show: Pleasant. Nothing more. Nothing less.

DOBBIE GILLIS, the Max Shulman-created series on CBS-TV, is supposed to point up the communication barriers that exist between teen-agers and parents. Dobbie, played by Duwayne Hickman, doesn't do this too successfully. But Tuesday night, a grotesque, impossible character called Maynard Krebs, played by Bob Denver, demonstrated some aspects of the communication breakdown.

I hate myself for saying it — saluting a slob isn't an especially constructive deed — but when the show concentrated on Maynard, it had more bite than when it worried about Dobbie's dull problems. I just hope the teen-agers in the audience don't start copying Maynard's appearance.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Portions of Thanksgiving Day parades in New York, Detroit, and Philadelphia will be televised by CBS-TV in an hour-long special, "Jubilee Parade" on Nov. 26 with Captain Kangaroo serving as host.

Walter Winchell portrays himself in "The Lepke Case," a Nov. 20 Desilu Playhouse production on CBS-TV. Janet Leigh has postponed an appearance on Thursday's ABC-TV panel show, "Take A Good Look: Host Ernest Kovacs' wife, Eddie Adams, is pinch-hitting for her.

Tanks Rehearse For Celebration Of Revolution

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet tanks rumbled across Red Square Tuesday night and huge neon lights spangled the city in rehearsal for the Soviet Union's annual celebration of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Foreigners and Russians alike lined the sidewalks of Gorky Street to stare at the tanks and other armored vehicles that lumbered through clouds of exhaust smoke to practice maneuvers in the massive square.

After 20 minutes of rehearsal, the peaceable trolley buses and automobiles resumed their own rushing across the wide open space beside the Kremlin.

There on Saturday, the 42nd anniversary of the Oct. 24 revolution that shook the world, the military and civilian might of the Soviet Union will stage its annual parade.

Indian Students Protest Raids

SUNAIR

Sixth Birthday Marked by Party

By JEAN PATANE

Sunair's social event of the week for the younger generation was the birthday party celebrating the sixth birthday of Gail Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Snyder of Melrose Drive, Saturday afternoon. Pink and white was the color theme carried out in the table decorations and the decorated cake. Ten classmates from Cathedral City School and Gail's big brother, Larry, were on hand to wish "Happy Birthday" and join in the festivities.

Mid-week guests enjoying sun and relaxation at Sunation Motel were Mr. and Mrs. Omer Rolland of San Pedro, Mr. and Mrs. Walter P. Ernst of Long Beach, and Donald Steving of Riverside. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Merickel were here during the week, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Zimmerman left Saturday for their home in Glendale after several days at Sunation. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Joiner, Jr., of Los Angeles are here for several weeks, and Mr. and Mrs. Horace T. Major are here this week from their home in Montecito.

Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Gould returned to their Melrose Drive home Sunday after spending five months enjoying the coastal activities at San Diego.

SANITARY STUDY ON AGRICULTURAL FIELDS IS FILED

Reporting on the status of sanitary conditions in agricultural fields, where produce is packed, Rober M. Howie, agriculture commissioner, told the Board of Supervisors this week that the agricultural industry recognizes the problem, but a solution will be found only after statewide consideration by interested groups or agencies.

He said the California Farm Bureau Federation has a permanent working committee assigned to study the problem.

The report resulted from reference to Howie of a complaint by Clive Knowles, international representative of a packing house union, that "shockingly unsanitary conditions" exist in agricultural fields where produce is packed for shipping to market, due primarily to lack of toilet facilities for workers.

The supervisors filed Howie's report.

Mid-week guests at Sunair Terrace were Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Gooden of Riverside, and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Bajusz, who were in the desert visiting with his brother, who is owner of the "Flame" restaurant in Palm Springs. Among the weekend guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Morphis, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Poole, all of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Ellsworth from Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown from San Diego, and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Watson, of Berkeley.

Billy and Joan May returned to Los Angeles Tuesday morning after a week of relaxation at their desert home on Melrose Drive. Their daughters, Linda and Cris, came down Friday after school to spend the weekend and returned to town Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McCaul arrived the end of the week from Olympia, Wash., to spend the next four months at the Palos Verdes Apartments. Here for a few days during the middle of the week were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Klingensmith of Long Beach.

The Misses Jane and Bessie Davis of Manhattan Beach were here last week visiting with their friends of many years, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Shelton, who recently moved into their new home on Melrose Drive.

Visiting with Mrs. Howard Edwards of Melrose Apartments last week was Mrs. C. F. Gault of Pasadena, who was a guest last season at the Melrose Apartments and who is now adding the final touches to the home she is building in Cathedral City.

Gogerty Gets Park Permit

Leo Gogerty of Anaheim won a long fight this week to obtain a permit for a trailer park in the Desert Crest area near Desert Hot Springs when his engineer, J. W. Reagan, revealed plans to put in fill on the north boundary of the property providing an area of drainage acceptable to the flood control department.

Planning director Tyler Suess was instructed to draw up the usual trailer park conditions for the permit.

PROTEIN FOODS HEAD WEEK'S 'BEST BUYS'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With colder weather across the nation, top values this weekend appear to be the heavier type protein foods, such as pork, beef, lamb and poultry. But eggs, too, continue an excellent buy.

In beef, numerous features are planned in sirloin, round and T-bone steaks, while chuck roasts and ground beef will also merit attention. Pork loins, hams, bacon and sausage will be top values, as will legs of lamb and chops at many marketing centers.

BROILER-FRYERS and turkeys continue popular, too, and prices favor the family food budget. And eggs also hold to their excellent values in menu-planning.

In the fruit line, apples, grapefruit and oranges are excellent choices, while increasing supplies of cranberries are being featured now. Grapes are an excellent choice also, and many markets have good supplies of lemons.

VEGETABLE BINS are not as overflowing as recently, but there are still good choices among such items as lettuce, tomatoes, cauliflower, potatoes and sweet potatoes, cabbage, celery, carrots, onions and cucumbers.

The best values in fish this weekend include shrimp, fish sticks, and canned tuna.

These are the week-end's best values from a national standpoint. Now, here's a closer look at plentiful foods in Southern California.

AMPLE SUPPLIES of pork, turkey, eggs, apples and cranberries are available in Western markets this week. Beef is in good supply, and some cuts are slightly lower in price in California markets. Supplies of calf, veal and lamb continue rather light and mostly unchanged in price.

Medium and large size eggs have again declined 1 to 2 cents a dozen in some markets. Fryer chickens also are being featured at attractive prices in most markets.

IN ADDITION TO apples and cranberries, plentiful fresh fruits and vegetables include Emperor grapes, cabbage, celery, cauliflower, carrots, squash, potatoes and tomatoes. In good supply are lemons, Valencia oranges, cucumbers, lettuce, onions and sweet potatoes. Best values in fish are salmon, rockfish, cod, flounder, sablefish and halibut.

South Dakota, Utah, Alaska and California account for about 74 per cent of all the gold produced in the United States.
